Mystic Crescent Scans

Before you begin to read this manhua, you need to understand the history of Chinese Gods in order to understand the story and its humour and fully enjoy the manhua. There are many Gods so I'll introduce them one by one as the story progresses for each chapter.

First the main character.

He's Erlang Shen, or Lord Erlang Shen. Erlang Shen means ' Second God Son'. Er means 2, Lang means son and Shen means 'God'. He's titled as being either True Lord, Or Illustrious Sage, he is the nephew of the Jade Emperor. He's a DemiGod-turned-God. He is also the greatest and most powerful Warrior God in Heaven. He's a noble and powerful Warrior God who slays and vanquishes Demons and Monsters in the mortal realm and who embodies justice and righteousness. He's really strong and has many super abilities but the most significant one that no one else has but he is his third eye. It's on his forehead that distinguishes Erlang Shen from the other Gods in the Chinese Pantheon. It could be called The Eye of Heaven and has the following abilities: truth-seeing, tracking and radar, and energy projection. Keep in mind that manhua is a fiction work so the author could make up some other superpowers but whatever they are, Erlang is the most popular and powerful God.

Sun Wukong or the Money King: If you've ever watched or read The Journey of the West, then you will be the most familiar with him. If you haven't, I'd recommend you to watch it before read this manhua so you will know the backbone story about him. If I write the background story about him, it'll be endless. I'll never be able to finish it. What you need to know is he's very strong like super super strong. He can fight all the supreme Gods in Heaven but except one. You'll know who once you watch it. He has two titles: one is Bi-wamen which is the title of the Keeper of the Heavenly Horses (lowest rank of the Jade Emperor's Court) and the second is Great Sage Equal of Heaven which is he named himself. The most common weapon he uses is called Ruyi Jin Gu Bang (Magic Golden-Clasped Rod")or in short just call the staff. Again, you need to watch the movie/drama series.

Jade Emperor is the supreme ruler of Heavens, the hades and the protector of mankind according to Chinese folklore religion and the highest ranking deity of the Taoist pantheon. He presides over Heaven and Earth. The Jade Emperor is usually depicted seated on a throne in imperial robes, his flat-topped crown embedded with strings of pearls that dangle from the front. He holds a short, flat tablet in clasped in both hands before his chest. He looks very majestic with his flowing beard.

DAODE TIANZUN/Lao Zi (道德天尊) is the official title for Tàiqing: the Grand Pure One, which is one of the Three Pure Ones. He is commonly known as Taishang Laojun (太上老君) "The Grand Supreme Elderly Lord" or Celestial Worthy of the Dao and Inner Power. In terms of iconography, he holds a fan depicting the immortal paradise of Penglai 蓬萊, with the base resting in his lower left hand and the center point resting in his raised right hand.
